Description of the Program, objectives and outcomes.	SSPIS participated in “Meri Maati Mera Desh” campaign at Arts faculty Block ‘B’ of Goa University which aims to pay tribute to our ‘Motherland’ and the courageous ‘Veers’ who made the supreme sacrifice for our nation. This initiative seeks to increase patriotism and environment consciousness in citizens. It encourages people to connect with their homeland, while promoting sustainable practices. It fosters a sense of obligation towards preserving the environment and value cultural heritage. The campaign strived to inspire participants to contribute positively to their country’s growth and development and protect the environment for future generations. As a part of ‘Panch Pran’ Pledge, the students along with the faculty members and a research scholar collectively took an oath to commit to five fundamental principles respecting land, water, air, fire, and ether and to show dedication to environmental conservation, sustainable living, and cultural preservation. As a part of 'Vasudha Vandhan' a sapling was planted outside the Arts faculty block by the students which were distributed by the discipline of Botany of SBSB, under 'Sapling Distribution and Plantation drive' initiative, to nurture our environment and contribute to nation's prosperity.

The program not only yielded national pride and enhanced environmental awareness among the participants but ensured stronger commitment to sustainable practices and developed deeper connections to their homeland, leading to collective efforts in preserving cultural heritage.
