She was a Visiting Professor under the ERASMUS programme at the Department of History, Cultures and Civilisation, University of Bologna, Italy, in April 2017.
7. Number of Faculty attended/participated	05
8. Number of participants	78
10. The objectives of the Program/activity/event	The lecture aimed at discussing and countering two kinds of Purism - Purism in Aesthetics and a kind of Epistemic Purism that seems to be prevalent in philosophical literature regarding Self-Knowledge and Self-Awareness. By taking self-portraits as a case study, the lecture intended to address how we see ourselves and what it is we see when we see ourselves.

12. Benefit/Key outcomes of the Program/activity/event	The speaker showed how Aesthetic Purism and Epistemic Purism regarding self-awareness cannot be correct through a brief study of self-portraits. Through robust discussions and exemplars, the lecture provoked responses to the philosophical question of whether we have privileged and incorrigible access to ourselves or are only aware of a mere subjective presence.
